

NIARAD REPORT

Rational thinking refers to the process of making decisions based on logic, evidence, and objective analysis. Human thinking, on the other hand, is often influenced by emotions, biases, and personal experiences. This PDF will explore the differences between rational and human thinking, and provide insights into how to cultivate more rational thinking in our daily lives.